NEW $33,000,000 OIL DEAL BARED

Wounded Fugitive Eludes Arrest

DECLARED MADE BY 5 FRIENDS OF DAUGHERTY

Attorney General and Jesse Smith "Sore" Because of Being Left Out of the Sinclair Transaction, Miss Roxie Stinson Tells Senate Committee

Witness Charges Investigated Cabinet Officer With Moral Responsibility for Death of Her Divorced Husband—Has No Doubt As to Ex-Mate Killing Self

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — Five friends of Attorney General Daugherty and Jesse Smith "cleaned up $33,000,000" in a Sinclair oil deal, Miss Roxie Stinson told the Senate Daugherty committee today that Jesse Smith had told her.

Daugherty and Smith were not in the "deal" and "they were sore about it," Miss Stinson said Smith told her.

After openly accusing Daugherty of "moral responsibility" for Smith's death in Daugherty's apartment here last May, she said she believed Smith was a suicide, Miss Stinson launched into a story of Smith's financial affairs, telling of the $33,000,000 "deal."

"Jesse said that five men in the past few days had made $33,000,000," she testified. "I asked him if he and Harry were in on it. He said 'no, that's what we are sore about and they were our friends, too.'"

"What kind of a deal was it?" asked Senator Brookhart.

"A Sinclair oil deal," Miss Stinson replied.

After asking if she knew whether E. B. McLean, Washington publisher, was one of the five men and receiving a negative answer, the committee turned aside from the matter.

SMITH SUICIDE.

"I have no doubt in my mind but what Jesse Smith committed suicide," Miss Stinson declared.

"But," she added, "I do feel that Harry Daugherty was morally responsible for his death."

Miss Stinson, calm and collected, as compared with her demeanor on previous appearances before the committee, was put on the stand today to complete her recital of Jesse Smith's relations with Daugherty and to face cross-examination by Daugherty's counsel.

Senator Brookhart, in the absence of Senator Wheeler, questioned her.

Continuing her story of Smith's death, she said:

"I feel that from the way Jesse arranged his house and all his effects that he contemplated suicide. I think he was driven to it by his association with Harry Daugherty."

"You examined the wound?" Brookhart asked.

"Yes."

"And it was a clean cut wound with no mangled flesh?"

"Yes, but there was a bruise on the other temple where he fell on a waste basket."

AMOUNT OF ESTATE.

Brookhart then switched the examination to the amount of Jesse Smith's estate before and after he came to Washington.

Miss Stinson said that Smith sold his department store in Washington Court House, Ohio, at a sacrifice, because he did not have the time to give to it. The sale price was about $40,000, she said.

Other property owned by Smith prior to his coming to Washington included his home, valued at $12,000 and two cottages worth $3,500 each, she said.

"What did Jesse Smith have in personal stocks when he came to Washington?" Brookhart asked.

"He had only a few stocks bought on margin. When he died, he had about $5,500 in Liberty bonds deposited in the Kings bank here. He also had 100 shares of Paine stock, valued at $5,500 and 200 shares of Central Leather, valued at $4,000."

"What is the total inventory of the estate?"

"$214,182.56, including my husband's Liberty bond account of $11,000."

From the items enumerated by Miss Stinson, Senator Moore estimated Smith's property was worth about $125,000 before he came to Washington.

"Were the 75 $1,000 bills you saw in Smith's possession, listed in the inventory?"

"No."

"Do you know what became of them?"

"No."

"Who was in Daugherty's apartment at the time Jesse Smith died?"

Senator Ashurst asked.

"Mr. Martin, special assistant to the attorney general, according to what Mr. Daugherty told me."

"Did Mr. Martin spend the night in the apartment—the night before the morning on which Smith committed suicide?"

"Yes, that's what I understand."

"Was a money belt found in Smith's effects after his death?"

asked Senator Moore.

"Not that I know of."

SMITH'S WILL.

Ashurst questioned Miss Stinson.

POLICE SCOUR DENSE WOODS IN MAN HUNT

Lima Bandit Crawls Wounded to House for Food

TWICE ELUDES ARREST

Detectives Think Everhardt Will Never Submit Alive

After twice fighting and crawling his way out of traps set for him by officers in the past two days William Everhardt, 24, alleged Lima outlaw, was still at large Wednesday, with strong posses scouring the country side for him in the vicinity of Miamitown, near Cincinnati.

Trail of the fugitive was picked up again by pursuing officers late Tuesday when he crawled to a farm house and begged food.

The farmer told James Loos, Harrison marshal, that Everhardt was badly wounded. One eye seems to have been blinded and there are wounds in his chest and one leg.

Attempts were made by the farmer to detain him, but the bandit after eating and hurriedly dressing his wounds, disappeared into the woods.

Shortly afterward officers got word of him near Miamitown, but at last reports had not killed or captured him.

Detectives Gayman and Riso, were summoned back to the scene of the fighting in Hamilton-co Tuesday night by Marshal Loos, who gave them an account of the chase and fighting during the day.

Prior to leaving Lima the sleuths asserted that Everhardt will either be killed or captured Wednesday or will likely die of wounds already inflicted.

Both expressed admiration in the manner in which the bandit has kept up the fight, though wounded several times.

That he is receiving some aid and protection from friends in the region is not doubted by officers.

Three states border each other in that vicinity and the rough broken terrain has long been an ideal hiding place for the criminal element of Cincinnati and other nearby cities.

That the fugitive may eventually be alone in the woods is suggested by Gayman as a possible end to the chase.

Monday the pursuers found several places where he had lain. Pools of blood marked the spot.

According to the officers the wounded man could easily crawl into a shallow gully in the woods, and die undiscovered, or lay out until able to escape.

In the latter event he would have to receive aid however.

Cincinnati police are assisting in the search, it was learned Wednesday.

Harry Everhardt, was taken to Kenton Tuesday and locked up. He maintains a stoic silence and refuses to talk, save to deny that he is concerned in crimes charged against him.

RESIGNS.

PREMIER POINCARÉ.

FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS

Action Results from Defeat of Pension Measure

MADE CONFIDENCE QUESTION

Resignation of Ministry is Accepted by President

PARIS — (United Press) — Premier Poincaré today presented the resignation of his cabinet to President Millerand.

Defeat and resignation of Raymond Poincaré, former president and several times premier of France, came on a comparatively minor issue today, after the premier had survived storms of criticism for his policy towards Germany and his fiscal program.

The government's pension bill was presented in the chamber by Count DeLaseyrie, who made it a question of confidence in the government.

By a narrow margin, seven votes, the deputies defeated the measure.

Poincaré immediately met with his ministers and after some discussion of reforming the cabinet, went to the Elysee and presented the resignation of the entire cabinet to the president.

President Millerand accepted the resignation.

DEFEAT OF GOVERNMENT

Defeat of the government by the chamber came like a thunderbolt from a calm sky. Count DeLaseyrie in demanding that the chamber amend the text of the pension bill, somewhat differently from the way it had been voted in the senate, claimed the existing bill meant too great expenditure.

Yells of protest came from the left where communist members who approved of large appropriations leaped to their feet.

The finance minister put his motion as a question of confidence.

Amid great excitement the vote was taken. The first count showed the government defeat by 50 votes, but a recount resulted in the defeat being officially announced as by seven votes.

The count grabbed up his papers and hurried out to find Premier Poincaré, amid pandemonium in the chamber.

Poincaré was before the foreign affairs commission in the chamber building, entirely ignorant that his government had fallen. Count DeLaseyrie got word to him in the midst of a speech.

"Gentlemen, I am sorry I must leave," Poincaré told the commission, and as a number of excited deputies and as a crowd of the door and pleaded with him not to resign, he forced his way thru them and rushed over to the Quai d'Orsay.

Poincaré then went to the Elysee at 12:15 p. m.

Shortly thereafter those ministers who had not been able to reach the Quai d'Orsay in time came to the president's palace. As soon as all had arrived, by ones, twos, in taxis, cabs and afoot, while a curious crowd gathered outside, Poincaré presented the cabinet's resignation.

MAN BATTLES TO SAVE $50 FROM ROBBER

Assailant Escapes From Brick Yard Before Police Arrive

SEVERE CUTS ON HEAD

Highwayman Routed After Desperate Early Morning Fight

Hit over the head with a hammer in the hands of an unknown assailant who attempted to rob him, Samuel Wagopeen, Toledo, is in Lima City hospital suffering a deep scalp wound.

Wagopeen was attacked at 4 a. m. Wednesday at the B. & O. yards but managed to save his bank roll of $50 from his assailant who escaped shortly before police arrived on the scene.

The injured man received first aid treatment at police headquarters and is at City hospital where his condition is reported not serious.

AWAKENED BY THIEF

Wagopeen told police he had stopped at the brick yard Tuesday night. About 4 a. m. Wednesday he was awakened by someone going thru his pockets. In the fight that ensued Wagopeen was struck by a hammer and felled to the ground but resumed the fight and routed his assailant a few minutes before police arrived in response to a riot call sent in by some unknown person.

One man was arrested and police are investigating four petty thefts reported over Tuesday night.

Carl Hastings, Yellow Cab driver, arrested on complaint of H. K. Heininger, manager of the company who charges Hastings with theft of $12, was released upon promise to repay the amount.

A tool shed at the Oil Supply Co. was entered Tuesday night and a pair of pliers, a hammer, hatchet and a wrecking bar stolen, police were told by W. Gottfried, 1234 Rice-ave.

R. G. Nelson, City hidee, reports the theft of a 22 caliber revolver from his automobile while it was parked on the street. Police were asked to search for a Ford coupe stolen Tuesday night from Kenton.

OWNERSHIP OF BOOZE NOT YET DETERMINED; DEPOSITIONS TAKEN

Depositions were taken Wednesday in Baltimore and Cincinnati relative to the ownership of a booze truck, wrecked on the Dixie highway at Bluffton several months ago. Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott announced.

The truck was loaded with 10 half barrels of beer, and 60 cases of bottled beer. Both beer and truck were seized by Sheriff Harvey Crosson.

Lippincott declared that the depositions will be taken for use in a trial to determine the ownership of the truck.

The machine is said to be owned by a man named Jack Frost, and mortgaged to the Commercial Acceptance Trust Co., Chicago, and a similar concern in Maryland. The latter firms claim to be ignorant of the purpose for which the truck was used.

LICENSING OF ALL AUTO DRIVERS TO BE DEMANDED

CLEVELAND — Enactment of a law requiring the licensing of all automobile drivers will be demanded at the next session of the legislature by the Safe Drivers' Club of Cleveland. Not only will this decrease the number of accidents, Jay E. Thompson, secretary of the club, said, but it will save the state $12,000,000 annually.

"There are 1,000,000 automobiles in Ohio," Mr. Thompson said. "The present economic loss from automobile accidents in Ohio is estimated at $32,000,000 a year. Licenses for drivers alone would save half of this, or $16,000,000, if reduction of accidents is as great as that in Massachusetts."

Figuring two drivers for each car, drivers' licenses at $2 each would cost $4,000,000. Mr. Thompson declared. This he deducts from the estimated saving of $16,000,000, making the actual saving $12,000,000.

RAILROAD SOLD

TOLEDO — The Toledo and Western Railroad Co., operating between Toledo and Plover, Mich., purchased by the Wabash Railroad and the Overland Co. for $200,000.

THE SENATOR'S CONVALESCING!

Senator Frank L. Green of Vermont, who was struck by a stray bullet during a recent battle between Washington prohibition agents and bootleggers, is recovering nicely at his Washington home. He is now able to sit up in bed and read the papers.

Human Beings Are Traced To Glacial Times

LOS ANGELES — (Associated Press) Human beings of a comparatively advanced type inhabited California before the glacial period which ended some 15,000 or 20,000 years ago, in the opinion of paleontologists who are studying three fossil skulls and portions of four human skeletons unearthed in glacial sand near here yesterday. The discovery was made in sands which recently gave up a skull thought to be the oldest relic of man yet brought to light by scientists.

Today excavators sought in the mud and silt at the bottom of a 23 foot pit still further confirmation of their belief that the skeletons unearthed, while showing development far beyond that of the Neanderthal man of Europe's glacial period, nevertheless belonged to human beings who roamed these shores in glacial times.

WOMAN IS JAILED

Held in Cleveland on Charge of Conspiracy

CLEVELAND — (United Press) — Search for ringleaders in what is believed to be the biggest run running plot unearthed here, is being conducted by Cleveland police today, following the arrest last night of Mrs. Minnie Sack of Toronto, Canada.

Mrs. Sack was held in the county jail in default of $10,000 bail on a charge of conspiracy against the government.

Federal agents were reticent regarding details, but the alleged conspiracy is said to involve shipment of millions of dollars worth of liquor to Cleveland from Canada.

One of the ringleaders escaped when Mrs. Sack was arrested and efforts to locate two men in Toronto have failed so far, federal agents admitted.

RADIO ENTERTAINMENT FOR PATIENTS IS PLANNED

WASHINGTON — World War patients in government hospitals soon will be helped to while the hours away with radio entertainment.

Director Hines of the veterans' bureau, in an order today, instructed construction agencies of the bureau to equip all government hospitals for radio reception with connections direct to the beds of patients.

Civil groups and friends of the sufferers, however, apparently will have to ender aid in completing the plan, since no funds are available for purchase of head phones. The money to buy the powerful receiving apparatus is not yet immediately available but funds are being raised privately in a score of cities and the director has given his full approval to the plan.

BIG GAP SHOWN IN BONUS COST

$2,500,000 Difference in Figures of Actuaries

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — The senate finance committee sought again today to bridge the $2,500,000 gap between two sets of government estimates as to the probable cost of the soldier bonus bill passed by the house.

Joseph McCoy, government actuary who figured the bill would cost $4,856,750,987, and H. P. Brown, veterans' bureau actuary, whose figures were used by the house in estimating the cost of the bill at $2,119,000,000, both were asked to appear before the committee.

Two main differences have developed in their calculations. McCoy figured the government would have to pay interest on all funds appointed for payment of the bonus and Brown argued no such expenditure would be necessary if the government should invest in outstanding government bonds the funds it would appropriate for the sinking fund with which to pay for the bonus at the end of 20 years. They also differed on the average number of days of service for veterans.

Upon conclusion of the hearings, the committee will resume work on the revenue bill.

SEES PRESIDENT

Daugherty in Conference at White House

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Attorney General Daugherty and Senator Lodge, Republican leader, conferred with President Coolidge today but White House officials said their conference was separate and that the Republican leader's conference did not concern Mr. Daugherty's situation. Mr. Daugherty said his conference was "about routine matters."

COURT REFUSES LENIENCY TO ACCUSED BOOTLEGGERS

Efforts of Mrs. Mary Dogostino, 55, of 112 E. Fourth-st. to escape paying the penalty for violation of liquor laws, failed in probate court Tuesday.

Accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Renaldi, a sister of Rosa Carbone, convicted blackhand, Mrs. Dogostino made a plea for leniency before Judge J. H. Hamilton.

Hints were thrown out that if the fine was made low the defendant would admit guilt and give valuable information.

The offer was turned down by the court. Trial of the case, in which the woman is charged with possession of illicit liquor, will be heard late Wednesday. Dry agents arrested the woman and her husband, Sam, in a raid, March 21.

YOUNG WOMAN IS MURDERED

Body is Found by Her Mother on Staten Island

YOUTHFUL MOTORIST SOUGHT

Victim Shot in Abdomen and Stabbed in Throat

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — Altho twenty detectives worked on the case throughout the night, no clue had been found early today to the youthful motorist who last night is suspected of having assaulted and murdered Mrs. Maud Bauer, 35, on a lonely road several miles from her home on Staten Island.

Mrs. Bauer's mother and her two little children were several hundred yards from the spot where the crime was committed, but heard no sound. The woman was shot in the abdomen, stabbed in the throat and struck on the jaw.

The youth is said to have driven up in a sedan and offered to assist Mrs. Bauer, whose car had stuck in a mud puddle into which she had driven to avoid colliding with a truck. Mrs. Bauer accepted an invitation to be driven to a nearby house to obtain a rope so that her car could be pulled out.

Half an hour later the youth drove by Mrs. Mary Petro, Mrs. Bauer's mother at a furious pace. Suspicious, she walked down the road and came upon the body of her daughter.

The young woman's husband recently left for Detroit to work as an automobile mechanic.

CASE POSTPONED

Committee Defers Action on Chase Impeachment

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — Consideration of the senate resolution, a king impeachment of C. C. Chase, son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, was postponed today by the house judiciary committee.

The official copy of this resolution and attached testimony, which was referred to the committee late yesterday, did not reach it in time for consideration at today's meeting.

Chairman Graham said the question would probably be taken up at tomorrow's regular session of the committee.

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR VISITS BERNHARDT TOMB

PARIS — American Ambassador Herriek was among the pilgrims to the tomb of Sarah Bernhardt on the anniversary of her death today. Acting in behalf of the Orpheum Circuit, Chicago, he attached a commemorative table to the tomb.

SINCLAIR CASE UP TOMORROW

Contempt Proceedings Reach Grand Jury Hands Then

PROMPT ACTION EXPECTED

Former Train Robber Arrives on Scene to Testify

WASHINGTON—(United Press)—The Sinclair contempt case will be placed before the federal grand jury here tomorrow with a request for an indictment, United States District Attorney Peyton Gordon announced today.

Prompt action is expected from the jury by Gordon as the jury dissolves March 31.

Al Jennings, former train robber, arrived here today, to tell the senate oil committee what he knows about reported "deals" at the 1929 Republican national convention.

Jennings immediately conferred with Senator Walsh, Montana, who will question him tomorrow. He declined to be interviewed but hinted his testimony would be enlightening.

Asked about his train robbing exploits, Jennings replied:

"Yes, I was a bandit but I never was secretary of the interior."

While the oil committee rested its hearings over until tomorrow, Walsh went ahead with a series of conferences with legal authorities, planning his criminal cases.

There is little left for the investigation committee to do. Witnesses for tomorrow include:

R. H. Wilson, of Oklahoma City who is said to know something of the same deal also is to testify.

Officials of the Empire Trust Co. of New York, are to tell what collateral will have deposited with them in connection with a Republican party campaign note. It has testified he used the $75,000 donation of Sinclair to pay the interest on the note.

F. W. Sanderson, Minneapolis, geologist, is supposed to have some technical information regarding the physical features of the Teapot Dome naval reserve.

IMPEACHMENT DEMAND

The senate demand for impeachment of C. C. Chase, son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, was taken up by the house judiciary committee today to decide upon procedure.

House leaders evidenced no disposition to expedite action against Chase, but promised the senate's resolution would not be allowed to die in committee.

Chairman Graham of the house judiciary committee, was expected to be critical of Chase's action.

"A suggestion to impeach does not come with very good grace from the body which has judicial power to try the question," he said.

The report that Chase had resigned before refusing to testify before the senate added weight to the opinion of many members that the situation did not demand unusual haste.

Graham said, however, that the resolution did not offer a technical bar to impeachment proceedings.

Republican Leader Longworth and Democratic Leader Garrett both expressed willingness to leave the matter for the present to the discretion of the judiciary committee.

In event the committee decides to go ahead, hearings will be held in which Chase will have the privilege of offering a defense and the committee will conclude the hearings with a formal recommendation of the house.

JURY COMPLETED

Panel Selected for Trial of Indiana Governor

INDIANAPOLIS—(Associated Press)—The jury to try Governor Warren T. T. Gray on charges of larceny and embezzlement of $155,000 of state bond of agriculture funds, was completed today.

The trial started March 17.

EXPENSE CUT PROPOSED IN GOVERNMENT AGENCIES

WASHINGTON—A sharp reduction in expenditures by the veterans' bureau, the shipping board and several other government agencies is proposed in the independent offices appropriation bill reported today to the house.

The measure carries $398,496,890 or $103,324,486, less than last year's appropriations and $241,741 less than budget estimates.

Of the total $349,063,000 would go to the veterans' bureau, a reduction of $98,888,088 under a year ago.

The shipping board and emergency fleet corporation would be allotted $20,344,000 or $20,067,500 less than the last bill carried.

HEAVY DAMAGE ASKED

PLUNDERING CHARGED

WASHINGTON—American oil men are annually "plundering the treasury" of millions of dollars by escaping thru loopholes in the tax laws that permit them to charge off huge sums against depreciation of their properties, Senator King, Utah, member of the senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau declared in a statement here today.

BURIED IN CORN BIN

CINCINNATI—Little hope is held out for the recovery of Frank Harrison, 23, a sweeper who was buried for almost an hour today in a huge corn bin at the School Grain Company. Harrison fell into a stream of corn which was being drawn from the bottom of the bin.

Looks as if "the Prince of Wales" is playing a regular little game of "Off Again—On Again." He doesn't seem to be able to stick on his horse. But in this sixteenth tumble, Eddie certainly did get mugged up. To make matters worse, his mount, "Little Favorite," kicked him right in the face. Here we see the prince, with blood trickling down his face, being assisted by his feet.

$33,000,000 OIL DEAL BARED

about Jesse Smith's will. She said his last will was written in his own hand writing on Wardman Park Hotel stationery.

"And that will was not probated?"

"No, sir."

"But that was a valid will?" asked Ashurst.

"Not under the Ohio law," interposed Paul Howland, counsel for Daugherty. "In Ohio there must be two witnesses to a will."

"But this was made in the District of Columbia?" insisted Ashurst.

Ashurst then declared the executors of Smith's estate should have taken the second will into consideration in probating the will. Brookhart then produced several letters written by Smith to Miss Stinson. They merely showed that Smith acquainted her with all intimate details of his doings and health.

During the reading of letters, Ashurst brought out that Smith's living expenses in Washington were about $25,000 a year.

"That has a bearing on the amount of his estate," said Ashurst.

"Yes, Jesse said expenses in Washington were a trifle," said Miss Stinson.

"Can you estimate the approximate amount that Smith sent to you from Washington?" asked Senator Jones.

"Several thousand dollars."

"How was it sent?"

"Checks and drafts. Sometimes just a $500 bill in an envelope."

"Did he tell you where this money was coming from?"

"That was a matter that was embarrassing to us both. He talked freely at first, but he grew more cautious later and so did I."

At this point Miss Stinson told the committee about the "$33,000,000" deal of the five friends of Daugherty and Smith.

DETAILS ASKED

Ashurst asked Mrs. Stinson to give more details regarding the $33,000,000 deal.

"Jesse Smith and I were at home in my apartment," she said. "He mentioned losing money on the stock market. I asked him why he didn't stop it. He said he would and he did the following January. He said, 'Just think,' five fellows make $37,000,000 in just a few days on the stock market. I asked him if Daugherty and he were in on it. He said, 'No, and they were good friends of ours too.'"

"Did he mention the names?"

"I rather imagine he did."

"Well, tell us the details," Ashurst insisted.

"I don't like to and I have a good reason for it, too."

"What I would like to know," Brookhart broke in, "is whether F. B. McLean was one of them?"

Mrs. Stinson did not answer.

Brookhart announced that the matter would be taken under consideration in executive session and it would then be decided whether she would be required to answer.

Mrs. Stinson said that she had told no one on the committee—not even Senator Wheeler—the names of the men mentioned by Smith in the $33,000,000 oil deal.

Mrs. Stinson then was excused. She will be cross-examined by Daugherty's counsel later.

Brookhart read a series of telegrams that passed between Smith, Daugherty and others.

Most of them related to movements of Daugherty and Smith. One was from E. B. McLean at Palm Beach, Fla., inquiring about Daugherty's health.

A telegram to McLean from Smith stated:

"I saw Mr. McLean this morning. Quick action will be obtained."

Another related to the connection of the name of Draper Daugherty, son of the attorney general, with Dot King, murdered Broadway butterfly.

One from K. M. Carroll of the department of justice to Daugherty stated:

"Party and wife in New York hotel. Have enjoyed them to absolute silence, which was promised."

From Jess Smith to Mrs. Stinson, from Washington April 10, 1923:

"Somehow, don't like it any more."

From M. S. Daugherty to Jess Smith, April 14, 1923:

"Desire take up bonds with alien property custodian and give security bonds instead. See Miller (alien property custodian) and arrange it."

On April 14, 1923, Mrs. Stinson wired Smith at Asheville that she had

AMERICANS GIVEN THEIR INSIGNIA

Pope Bestows Birettas and Mozettas Upon Cardinals

ROME—(Associated Press)—Before an assemblage of prelates, among them a large representation of Americans, Cardinal Hayes of New York and Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago received their birettas and mozettas as cardinals at the hands of Pope Pius in the hall of the consistory this afternoon.

The short and simple, the ceremony was full of impressive solemnity. More than 400 persons assembled in the historic hall promptly at 5 o'clock, the ringing of bells announcing that the pope was ready to leave his apartments for the hall. He entered, surrounded by the papal household, and Swiss guards, and the solemn procession moved slowly toward the throne, his holiness bestowing the benediction to the right and left on the assembly which knelt in homage as he passed.

The American prelates were waiting in the Mithila chapel and at the signal, accompanied by their train bearers, they stated toward the consistory hall. At the entrance they were announced, Cardinal Mundelein first because of his seniority. They proceeded slowly to the throne and in turn performed the ceremony of homage. Then they took their places in specially prepared chairs at the foot of the throne.

After a few seconds, Cardinal Mundelein ascended the throne and a prelate of the papal household advanced with a red ermine-trimmed mozetta, or cape, which his holiness draped around the shoulders of the new cardinal. From another prelate the pontiff took a red biretta and placed it on the head of his eminence.

DANUBE TURNED INTO WINTER PLAYGROUND

BUCHAREST—(Associated Press)—An exceptionally hard freeze has made the Danube, in its whole extent between this country and Bulgaria, a winter playground. The thick ice has taken the place of the bridge which has been under international consideration for years.

Sleighting is the great sport, and parties from the Rumanian river cities frequently go to evening performances in theatres on the Bulgarian side, and Bulgarian parties come in sleighing to theatres and restaurants on the Rumanian side.

Wolves from the Carpathian mountains have descended to the Danube basin in search of food, and there have been frequent brushes between sleighing parties and small packs of wolves.

It has been determined by the authorities on both sides of the river that the Danube is frozen harder this winter than at any previous time in the memory of the oldest living inhabitant.

Duluth Navigation to Bring Heavy Ore Yield

DULUTH—(Associated Press)—Reports from the Lake Superior iron ore fields and iron grain and coal shippers have caused Duluth men in authoritative positions to predict one of the liveliest early shipping seasons on the Great Lakes in recent years.

With lower lake smelters rapidly unloading iron ore stock piles, and with a brisk demand for vessel bottoms to carry grain from Duluth-Superior and Port Arthur-Port William elevators, shipping men see great activity ahead when lake navigation opens. This usually is around May 1.

Ninety-six per cent of the smelters have been consuming ore at a promising rate of speed, according to word received here, indicating that there will be a rush of ore from the Lake Superior district when breaking ice frees the huge fleet of freighters. Stock piles at the underground mines are sufficient to take care of the movement to the docks until the great open pit properties resume operations. Mining experts declare:

VESSELS CHARTERED

Vessel bottoms are being chartered at three to three and one-half cents a bushel to take grain down lakes from well-filled elevators at the Canadian and American head of the lakes. Elevators at Chicago, Port William, Port Arthur, Duluth and Superior are estimated to contain approximately 30,000,000 bushels of grain, with more than half of that amount at the Canadian ports. The heaviest movement is expected from those points, so that room may be made for large shipments still to be made from inland points.

As the lake fleet will be engaged in taking ore and grain down lakes, there will be a large number of bottoms available to bring coal from the lower lake docks, dock operators explain. On March 1 there were approximately 4,000,000 tons of soft coal on the docks with 2,000,000 tons of soft coal contracted for, leaving a surplus of 1,600,000 tons.

Leaves His Home in Germany for Parts Unknown

CARRIES MUCH BAGGAGE

Officials Glad to See the Draft Evader Leave

BERLIN—(Associated Press)—Grover C. Bergdoll was believed today to be on the first stage of his return to the United States to "face the music" for his evasion of military service during the world war.

He left Eberbach yesterday for an unknown destination carrying considerable luggage, after making preparations which indicated that he did not contemplate returning.

Friends stated that the Badense government which was not keen to retain him as a resident, had issued a certificate of American citizenship enabling him to cross the frontier.

His departure was in the direction of Frankfurt and it was believed he would take a train for Hamburg and there board a steamship for New York. With him was his faithful shadow and chauffeur, Eugene Stecher.

PLEASED AT DEPARTURE

HEIDELBERG, Germany—(Associated Press)—Badense government officials breathed a sigh of relief today when it became known that Grover Bergdoll had pulled up stakes and departed for other spheres of activity. They said they did not know where he had gone and furthermore didn't care.

When Bergdoll left Eberbach he said goodbye only to his uncle, Carl Bohrmann, proprietor of the Krone Hotel, where the draft evader has made his home for more than three years.

BELGIUM WAVERS, CHILLS FRANCE

Brussels Holds Key to Peace Maneuvers in Europe

THEUNIS, JOINCARE BALKED

British Premier Also Blocks Anti-German Moves

By J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK — (United Press) — Belgium is acquiring the position of a holder of the balance of power in Europe's recovery. The refusal of the Belgian parliament to support the Theunis government, on the question of sustaining its convention with France may become the dominant factor in bringing about a common-sense settlement of Europe's problems.

HE'S A HERO!

Lucky for Lieut. Tommy Ryan, U. S. N., that he was in Tokyo during the September earthquake. His presence in the stricken city gave him a chance to show a little of the stuff of which heroes are made. And he did. Uncle Sam has just awarded him a congressional medal.

Had the convention been adopted at Brussels, control over Belgium's relations with Germany would have continued to remain in the hands of France. The rejection of the convention means that the Belgian people have had enough of M. Poincare's victories over Germany which never bring in any money and put the indemnity matter further away from a settlement. The rejection of the Poincare policies has been the support of Belgium; those judgment of events has been thought to be that of an expert, with his own life at stake.

NOT OVER FRIGHT

Belgium has now got over her fright, which sent her into the arms of France. The Belgian people are beginning to realize that their future prosperity does not depend on France's ability to rush army corps to the Belgian border at the outbreak of any future German attack; nor is it contingent upon the ability of the French army to seize that little money the German indemnity payers have around loose. The Belgians are now seeing for the first time since the ending of the war that the distant future has to be allowed to take care of itself. Instead of wasting Europe's energies in elaborate strategy and under strategy seeking to check Germany from springing to battle twenty-five years hence, the Belgians want to resume living in the present. The realities of today's Belgium have become more pressing in Brussels than the possibilities of the future.

This change of mind in Belgium happened at an admirable time to be used to the full. The British government has begun to speak the words of the common sense in international affairs. Premier Ramsey MacDonald has no ill will in the intricacies of foreign relations. But he has great power as a translator of the vague thoughts of the masses into words of common-sense. He doesn't fear to speak the common mind, not scientifically, but inquiringly. The exchanges of viewpoints between London and Paris have thus taken on a new significance. Were not for the position of Belgium there is no reason to believe Premier MacDonald could hope to succeed in his method of plain but courteous speaking. Premier Poincare can never be diverted from his course by words.

PAINCARE IN DANGER

But it has so happened that the Belgian disillusionment has occurred simultaneously with Ramsey MacDonald's rise to power. Deserter by Belgium, coupled with the kindly common sense of Premier MacDonald, cannot help greatly perturbing M. Poincare.

If the Belgians can be won back to France's full and unconditioned support, Premier MacDonald will notice a sudden chill in the air in Paris. But, if Belgium retains her newly acquired view point, matters will continue to roll the MacDonald way. In this situation Belgium has become the most important diplomatic capital in Europe, for the time being.

The French have great power with the Wallons, who consider themselves the dominant race, intellectually, in Belgium. But the Flemish Belgians, who favor Great Britain, are riding into popularity on a wave of democracy. The Flemish influence have a natural affinity for the MacDonald policies. If they can hold Belgium fast, France must give way permanently, in which event M. Poincare's Premiership will end.

NEW WAY TO BANISH RHEUMATIC PAINS DISCOVERED BY ALESSANDRO VOLTA

Rids You of Rheumatic Pain Without Drugs or Medicines.

Until recently, the real cause of Rheumatism has evaded scientific inquiry. And, naturally, the old-fashioned methods of treatment with internal remedies were uncertain and sometimes dangerous.

Now it has been definitely established that rheumatic pains are caused in many cases by the absorption of poisons into the blood.

Alessandro Volta, the well-known physicist, for whom the electric volt was named, has produced an entirely new and revolutionary method of treatment for Rheumatism of certain ingredients that produces a fine powder which, when shaken into the shoes or stockings is intended to be immediately absorbed into the blood. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that the soles of the feet contain 10 times as many pores to the square inch as are found in other parts of the body.

He has called this powder Volta. Its use has given immediate relief, in many instances, from the terrible crippling, torturing pain even in stubborn, long-standing cases.

The use of Volta powder has demonstrated such astonishing results in literally thousands of cases, many of which were considered hopeless, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta to rheumatic sufferers in their city with an unqualified guarantee to return the full purchase price of the first box in any rare case where the rheumatic pains are not wonderfully relieved.

All who suffer from rheumatic pains, no matter how long-standing their case may be, should take immediate advantage of this liberal offer.

You can get a box of Volta from such good druggists as: Argonne Drug Store, Baldwin's Central Drug Store, Enterprise Drug Store, Green's Public Drug Store, Interurban Drug Store, Keltner's Drug Store, Marmon Bros. Drug Store, Mykranitz Drug Store, Vorkamp's Drug Store.

WOMEN ASK RIGHT AT POLLS

Present Law Disfranchises Over 4,600,000 Persons

LONDON — (United Press) — Why should the English businesswoman, who prefers to take her meals in a restaurant instead of in her room, be disfranchised? Why should the English woman doctor, nurse or teacher, who works and lives in an institution, be disfranchised? Why should 4,600,000 women, who are over 21 years of age and under 30, be disfranchised? These are the questions which, in considerable exasperation English women are pressing upon the Labor government.

For six years, ever since the passage of the "Representation of the People Act," English women over the age of 30 and qualifying as to their respectability in various ways, have enjoyed the vote.

But the tests of respectability applied to women and not to men—have caused more indignation in the British female breast than the downright disfranchisement of the women between the ages of 21 and 30.

For when the Englishman attempted in 1918, to enfranchise the respectable section of the female sex, his clumsy devices, it is pointed out, caused all sorts of anomalies. The only way he could define a respectable woman, without frightening Mrs. Grundy, was to define the female voter in terms of status or property.

The English woman, over 30 years of age, who has the ineffable bliss of being married to an Englishman, is solemnly enfranchised. But is she a spinster, or a widow, she must satisfy the election authorities (a) that she occupies unfurnished premises; (b) occupies them alone—that is, does not share them with a fellow voter—and (c) uses them as a home. English professional women have been struck from the rolls, because they admitted occupying rooms in which they did no housekeeping. And as for the "regiments of women"—highly intelligent women, too—who live in girls' schools and colleges, where they teach or serve as physicians, nurses, matrons and what not—there is no provision in the English law for them.

In their anxiety to prevent "bad women" from coming up to the polls, the draftsmen of the 1918 Act have succeeded in disfranchising, it is declared, more than 60 per cent of the trained professional women," the

HINES' FATE UP TO HIGH COURT

Decision on Verdict of Lower Court to be Made

KILLED BOY DURING STRIKE

Van Wert-co May Get New Trial, if Granted

Final determination in the case of Otis Hines, 42, negro chief, sentenced to 15 years imprisonment for killing Robert Halloran, 19, of 535 N. West-st, September 9, 1922, will be before Ohio supreme court for decision Thursday.

Hines will either be sent to prison to serve his time, or win a new trial, as an outcome of the hearing.

Hines came to Lima in 1922 as chief cook at the B & O shop, during the federated slaughter strike. On the night of the shooting he was returning to the home from an errand up town. As he neared the corner of E. McKibben-st and N. Union-st, Halloran and Louis Hickey, a companion, approached up Union from Pearl-st.

CARRIED REVOLVER

Hines was carrying a revolver in his hand. The two turned west in McKibben-st and approached the negro.

As they met Hines he charged that the two parted, and one man struck him a blow in the mouth. As he went to his knee, he shot. Halloran was mortally wounded.

Hickey, in his testimony, said that no blow was struck and that Hines opened fire without provocation.

The trial for murder, the jury which heard the case before Judge Fred C. Becker, returned a manslaughter verdict. Hines was sentenced to 15 years, but his case was reversed by the appeals court.

Finding of the appeals court was that error was committed prior to the trial when Judge Becker over ruled a motion for change of venue, filed on grounds of prejudice, existing on account of the strike.

Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott carried the matter before Ohio supreme court.

If the supreme court sustains the court of appeals, retrial of the case will, it is believed, be heard in Van Wert-co.

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN TO MARCH IN PEACE PARADE

CLIVELAND — Plans have been virtually completed for a parade of thousands of women down Euclid Avenue in a mammoth peace parade on Easter Sunday afternoon, April 20.

Mrs. Victoria McBride who carried the banner of suffrage in a parade years ago and who later led the same group of women down Euclid Avenue in Liberty loan drives will be one of the leading figures in the parade program. Every woman in Cleveland whether affiliated with one of the 28 organizations embraced in the council or not, will be asked to take her place in the line of march.

"THE DANCE OF THE BROOM" DISPLACES THE DRUDGERY OF HOUSEWORK WITH JAZZ AND BRINGS BEAUTY TO WIVES

BY HAROLD MATSON

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. — (Special) — A word to the wives: Bring on the dance and drive drudgery forever out of your lives.

Dance when you sweep, dance when you scrub, dance when you cook, and you will be healthy, happy and wise.

Thus you make your housework an aesthetic pleasure, as converted by Miss Jean Wold, teacher of classic dancing in Vassar College.

"Housework is drudgery because it lacks rhythm," declares Miss Wold.

"The housewife can make her work a remedial exercise, a pleasure, and preserve her health and her beauty," Miss Wold asserts.

She says the spirit of the dance easily fits into the household.

"Housewives are worn out by their work," according to Miss Wold, "because their physical exertion is never done in completed movements. Muscles remain soft, blood is not properly circulated and the body tissues break down through lack of exercise of all of one's body."

Miss Wold declares that if women did their work to time of music they would bring all their body into play, with no effort or time lost, but healthy exercise gained.

She says dancing movements can be used in bed-making, in sweeping, in scrubbing, in washing and in most everything a housewife has to do. First, however, she should learn how to walk.

"Few people know how to walk," Miss Wold says. "They come down heavily on their heels and fail to swing their body with the stride. The body should come down lightly on the heel, move forward on the ball of the foot and come up on the toes. It is less tiring and certainly more graceful."

Even in hanging curtains Miss Wold demonstrates how the work can be done in dance time—perhaps, a spring dance leading up to the actual hanging of the curtain rod.

But for applied household dancing let us use one of Miss Wold's lessons. Tune in the radio for a waltz, or wind up the phonograph and try this, with a broom as your partner.

Hold the broom with your right hand above the right on the handle. Then see that your feet are about 18 inches apart, left foot forward. Now start: Count

1 and swing the broom in a long easy stroke, swaying shoulders in time, your head erect. Count 2 and step right foot across left. Count 3 and step left foot to side and begin on one again, progressing over the floor with

1 and swing the broom in a long easy stroke, swaying shoulders in time, your head erect. Count 2 and step right foot across left. Count 3 and step left foot to side and begin on one again, progressing over the floor with the dust ahead of you—1 and 2 and 3 and 1 and 2—la, la, la, get it?

Miss Wold claims that this "Dance of the Broom" will make any housewife sorry that she hasn't more floors to sweep.

LITTLE MONARCHY SEEKS LIBERTY

Liechtenstein Wants to Join Swiss Federation

ONLY 11,000 INHABITANTS

Agriculture Principal Industry of Teuton People

GENEVA, — (United Press). — Liechtenstein, the smallest monarchy in the world and the last of the Teutonic monarchies, is doing its best to get off the map—at least monarchical.

What Liechtenstein would like to do is to become a republic and join the Swiss Federation as a separate canton.

The movement amongst the 11,000 inhabitants of Liechtenstein to join the modern democratic movements of European nations has become especially pronounced the past year, when it has become apparently evident that none of the great European monarchies will ever be restored.

Switzerland was charged by the League of Nations with the task of looking after Liechtenstein's world interests before the League. Liechtenstein therefore sees less reason than ever for continuing to maintain a separate, independent monarchical existence.

100 SQ. ARE MILES

The Liechtensteiners love their traditional monarchical regime, but they love more economic prosperity. The little monarchy, which still remains the last of the Teutonic monarchies, is situated between the Swiss and the Austrian frontiers.

The total area is some 100 square miles and the principal occupation of the 11,000 inhabitants cattle and horse raising, agriculture and discussion as to whether Liechtenstein shall continue a monarchy or become a republic.

What renders the question exceedingly difficult for the Liechtensteiners is the fact that the present Teutonic ruler, Prince John II, is a great economic asset. Prince John, who is now over 80 years old, is one of the richest individuals in Europe. He has outside real estate holdings about twelve times as large as the territory of Liechtenstein itself.

He lives most of the time in his Vienna castle, but floods his little principality with gifts, improvements, low taxes and about everything that can be done or given to render the economic life of his subjects desirable.

For the moment, the tendency is not to let loose of the bird in the hand in order to grab the bird in the bush, but rather to hang onto the bird in the hand until it is dead and then take over the bird in the bush.

There is every indication that the little monarchy will wait till Prince John is dead.

LUDWIG IN LEAD

So Declares Wapakoneta Paper Concerning Race in Fourth

Indications in Auglaize-co, according to an article published Tuesday in the Wapakoneta Daily News, are that L. E. Ludwig, Lima attorney who is a candidate for the nomination for congress, has the inside track in the district. Ludwig is known to be strong in Allen, his home county, and has many friends and supporters elsewhere in the Fourth district, but the statement in the Wapakoneta paper Tuesday is the first direct statement from that quarter to show his strength.

The paper says: Outside of Mr. Ludwig of Allen-co there doesn't seem to be a lot of Democrats who are first for the fray next November. Ludwig has announced his candidacy. Several others have had their friends talking their heads off for them and others have been having nice things said about them without any definite announcement other than spreading a lot of fool stuff about the "other fellow." Fourth District Democrats are fed up with the visit of the visitors. What they are looking for is the honest-to-God candidate who can win. Ludwig has the inside track so far. The Democrats of the district know what he intends to do. His position is stronger this week than it was two weeks ago and, by cracker it will continue to get stronger if the "manager boys" and the retiring fellow don't get hep and come out into the open.

DULPHOS — Joseph Ulm, 79, died Tuesday at his home in Ravenna following an illness of nearly a year from Bright's disease.

Ulm was employed as a blacksmith for the Cleveland railway at Dulphos for many years, retiring last June because of ill-health. He was a Civil War veteran, member of St. John's Catholic church, St. Joseph's society and the Knights of Columbus.

He is survived by eight children, George, William, Wendell, Caroline and Mary Ulm, all of Dulphos; Mrs. Anna Brick and John Ulm, of Leona; and Raymond, of Washington, Ind.

TEAM CRIPPLED

DULPHOS — Two star men on the Dulphos St. John's team will be unable to play at Fremont Friday night. Robert and Leon Ulm, center and guard, will not play Friday night on account of the death of Joseph Ulm, their grandfather.

This will no doubt cripple the team very much, and if the game is won, it will be close and hard fought.

FOUR ROASTED TO DEATH ABOARD BURNING COACH

TSINGTAO, — Four men were roasted alive in a blazing coach of a moving train on the Tsinan-Tsing-tao railway recently. Two others to escape being burned leaped from the train and were killed.

The train was running at high speed when a carelessly dropped lighted match in a third class coach ignited a can of alcohol. The accident happened at midnight and the resultant explosion covered sleeping passengers with the burning liquid. A stampede to adjoining cars ensued and in the crush of frantic passengers, many were seriously burned and otherwise injured.

C. D. WILBUR FOR STRONG NAVY

New Secretary Wants American Fleet Most Efficient

FAVORS MODERN SEA FORCE

Terrible Wrong to Have Ships Outraged, He Says

(BY LAWRENCE MARTIN)

WASHINGTON—(United Press)

Two minutes conversation with

Curran Wilbur, the California

man, who has just taken over the department's helm, tells you

he is a firm believer in and strong supporter of two great American institutions. One of these is marine.

The other is the navy.

So far as Washington and the country generally are concerned,

Wilbur is a new face and a new personality. Physically he is a big chap, tall like one of his California peers or the corn of his native Iowa.

His grey blue eyes twinkle behind plant gold rimmed glasses, of a type now almost obsolete, since the newer type appeared to disfigure the human countenance. The grey hair reaches up from a high brow, his cheeks have a hint of ruddiness, as though he liked the outdoors—as he does.

The judge peers thru his manner at odd moments and then again the boy twinkles in his eye,

as for instance, when he tells how

Mrs. Wilbur fell in love with Washington.

"She loves the city," he said,

chuckling toothfully.

"I was wondering what her action would be. It was all I could have asked for. She's gone out hours hunting pleased as a child."

When it was suggested that task might modify Mrs. Wilbur's opinion of the capital, somewhat, he replied: "Oh no; she's game."

LAUGH AT WINTER

these pretty mermaids. There's snow on the ground, but they're braving the icy waters just the same. They're members of the

them at Arlington Beach, Washington.

PENNSYLVANIA HIKER

IS VISITOR IN LIMA

H. E. Stauffer, of Harrisburg, place Tuesday night on his return hike from Fort Worth, Texas, where he had been working.

On Stauffer's back was a canvas sign reading "Give Us a Lift"

with the "us" crossed out and a

"me" marked over it. When asked the reason for the change Stauffer said: "I grub-staked a partner as far as Kansas, where I awoke one morning to find my suitcase of clothes, $25 in money and my partner gone. So I hoofed it on alone."

Stauffer averages between two and three hundred miles a day. He left

Fort Worth March 8.

VERDICT ON NOTE GIVEN BANK

Jury Returns $8,000 Judgment to Lima Trust Co.

Judgment for $8,000 was returned

Tuesday by a common pleas court jury before Judge H. A. Miller, of Cellina in favor of the Lima Trust

Co. against Mrs. Maxine Jones-

Hunt. The suit was dismissed as to R. D. Jones, Delphos banker.

Suit was brought by the Lima bank to compel Mrs. Hunt, divorced wife of E. R. Hunt fugitive dry cleaner to pay a $3,800 note.

The defendant admitted signing

the note, but asserted the instrument was drawn for $28 and was later raised by her former mate.

Judge Miller, on special request, charged the jury that if it was found that Mrs. Hunt did not deny the amount of the note until after she had filed her answer and cross petition in the suit to find that by not so doing she ratified her act.

It is believed that an appeal will be taken.

BANDITS SOUGHT

One Held in Connection With

Mail Robbery

CHICAGO—(Associated Press)

Carl Fontana, alleged gang leader, is under arrest and police search is being made for eleven gangsters

in connection with the $150,000 registered mail pouch robbery at Harvey, yesterday by four bandits who escaped in an automobile after exchanging shots with pursuers.

Police say Fontana owns the machine which the bandits abandoned near West Hammond. He declared that the machine was stolen from his home while he slept yesterday,

but members of his family state he was away from home at the time of the robbery, officers say. When apprehended Fontana was jimmy-ing the doors of his garage.

Near the abandoned car postal inspectors found $4,000 in one dollar bill, part of the shipment of money contained in the registered pouches which held the payroll for more than 2,000 employees of Harvey industries.

Former Woman of Crime Is Sorry For Young Thugs

DETROIT—(Associated Press)—

Three nattily dressed youths held up a little lunch room here last night,

shoved a woman, the only person in the place except the proprietor, under the table and escaped with $50 and the proprietor's watch.

The woman, roughly brushed aside

by the youthful bandits, was Sophie

Lyons Burke, former famous confidence woman, and a member of a bank robbery gang which ranged the world in its hunt for loot.

Mrs. Burke, who has served innumerable prison sentences, lived

as the wife of two famous criminals and was a member of a gang which,

police say, obtained $3,000,000 in one theft from the Manhattan bank in New York, expressed sympathy for the three youthful bandits and their petty lunch room holdup after the robbery.

"Those poor deluded boys," Mrs.

Burke said afterward, "I pity them

so. If I could talk to them for five minutes I know I could make them see that crime never will pay.

I've proved that in my own life."

The little gray woman, 75 years old, who is author of a book entitled "Why Crime Doesn't Pay,"

and according to her own statements has probably forgotten more about crime than the youthful bandits who held her up ever knew.

Turned from criminal activity about forty years ago and is now doing evangelistic work in Detroit's underworld.

SURVEY OF 80 CITIES

Big Reduction Over State Seen in Past Three Years

Taxation dollar received in Lima worth approximately 21 cents in payment of the city after paying required interest and sinking fund charges on debt.

Three years ago approximately sixty cents of every dollar was used in meeting current operating expenses but maturing bonds and interest with reduction of tax dividends sliced the amount down to 29 cents.

In a survey of the state made for The Lima News the city of Lima is reported among the lowest in utilization of the tax dollar for current operating expenses. Forty-eight of the 80 Ohio cities included in the survey have less than half of their tax dollar for current expenses. Seven of the cities will have less than 25 cents.

DEPARTMENT STORE ARTIST PAINTS 100,000 PICTURES

KANSAS CITY — With a total of 100,000 paintings to his credit, and all of them sold, George Kay, lighting landscape artist of Kansas City, says his practice period is over. Now he is ready to paint some real pictures.

George Kay does most of his work in a local department store, where salesmen experience little difficulty in disposing of canvases. In a recent sale more than 1,000 Kay paintings were sold in a week.

Kay says he prefers to paint in a department store than to become famous and struggle his life away in a garret studio.

"My friend Schade started to death in a garret! I prefer to own my own automobile."

Kay declares that he can produce much better pictures than those he sells from $2 to $5. He says his rapid work does not seem to affect the technique of his painting.

TRIAL OF POLICE CHIEF OPENS

Former State Prohibition Head Wages Dry Battle

Second day trial in the case of Police Chief James Ague, Wapakoneta, charged with interfering with state prohibition officers during a raid on Wapakoneta Elks' club on February 22, opened Wednesday in Mayor James Wheeler's court at Buckland with the court room filled to capacity.

Attorney Don V. Parker, former state prohibition director, is waging the fight against Chief Ague, who is defended by Attorney R. B. Anderson, Wapakoneta.

C. A. Rayburn and J. C. Walls, two of the 11 raiders, testified Tuesday that the raiders collected at a certain house in Wapakoneta and raided the club rooms as it was understood three weeks in advance a "big liquor party" was to be staged. No liquor was found or evidence to lead to believe that liquor had been kept in the building, testimony indicated.

Police Chief Ague questioned the right of raiders to enter the building and in the affidavits against him "state agents say he struck them and interfered with them in searching the building."

A number of witnesses were called by the state and defense Wednesday and from their testimony it is believed the case will not be completed until Thursday.

FIRE DOES BIG DAMAGE IN BUILDING AT CANTON

CANTON — (Associated Press) — Fire of unknown origin this morning practically destroyed the three-story brick building occupied by the Wilson and Painter Electric Co., and the Wagner Provision Co., causing a loss in stock alone estimated at $105,000. With the damage to the building and fixtures the loss may reach $150,000. Several firemen were hurt.

The blaze was discovered shortly before 6 o'clock and when firemen reached the scene the flames had spread thru a greater part of the building.

The firemen injured were hurt in falls from ladders, made slippery by the wet snow which was falling.

COOLIDGE LEADS BY 2,000

Presidential Primary Race in South Dakota is Close

HIRAM JOHNSON GAINING

Endorsement Received by McAdoo, His Headquarters Claims

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. — (Associated Press) — President Calvin Coolidge was holding a lead of less than 2,000 votes over Senator Hiram Johnson for the Republican presidential preference when tabulation of unofficial returns from yesterday's primary in South Dakota was resumed today. Gained largely thru the city vote in the southeastern part of the state, the lead was reduced by reports early today from heavy Johnson counties, and rural precincts in the central and north-eastern parts were expected by Johnson workers to cut deeper into the Coolidge lead.

Coolidge workers, answering the claim of Johnson managers that the Californian had won by 10,000 majority, insisted the western part of the state and more nearly complete returns from the southwestern section would enable the president to hold his lead.

Meanwhile the majority of Governor W. H. McMaster over Senator Thomas Sterling for the Republican senatorial nomination had grown to more than 3,400 early today.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

On the Democratic ticket, only scattered and incomplete returns were available, but the state headquarters of the party at Huron, backing the majority column filings, declared William G. McAdoo had obtained the presidential endorsement. He was opposed by a faction seeking to send an un instructed delegation to the national convention.

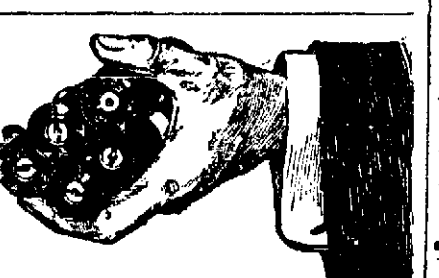

Returns from 538 precincts of approximately 1,750 in the state gave Coolidge 23,159 and Senator Johnson 22,611, while 555 precincts gave McMaster 23,230 and Sterling 19,738.

A Sworn Statement From the Owner To the Public

Yes, I have decided to quit business after 16 successful years in this city. Starting in Lima when my business was small I have established this store in a profitable manner. My lease expires soon and therefore I have decided to leave your midst. In this closing out sale I have not resorted to any give-away schemes but will give you the best bargains that you ever saw. Lots of merchandise and a great proportion is less than the cost. I must close out every bit of merchandise in my store and I have marked everything so cheap that it will pay you to buy for years to come. In this advertisement I have simply given you an idea of the bargains that you may expect when you come here—lots more when you come.

On the 11th day of March comes before me Henry Schwarz, the owner of the Harvard Clothes Shop, Market and Union Streets, and swears that he is quitting business in Lima forever due to lease expiration. He further states that he will conduct this sale in an upright and bonafide manner. This sale will continue until everything is sold.

FLASHES TO MARS PLANNED

English Scientists to Try to Communicate With Planet

APPARATUS BEING INSTALLED

Preparations Under Way for Experiments Next August

LONDON. — (United Press) — Next August Mars will be nearer the earth than in 15 years. English scientists are preparing to communicate with the red planet. A series of light flashes from the summit of the Jungfrau, in the Alps is the method to be used.

A gigantic electro-reflecting apparatus is already being installed, which will concentrate the rays from the dazzling snowfields and hurl them in a super-searchlight beam millions of miles into interstellar space.

This stupendous scheme is the same idea as the headlight of a motor-car. This consists of a glass lens concentrating the beams, an electric bulb and concave mirror to serve as a reflector.

The idea of light communication with Mars has often been suggested. It was considered possible to concentrate a beam of light and to concentrate it, but the problem has always been how to make a gigantic mirror, miles square, sufficiently powerful to reflect the rays millions of miles through the air.

A VAST MIRROR
On the Jungfrau the question is solved. A neighboring mountain presents an enormous concave slope of shining snow. Innumerable great calcium flares will take the place of the electric bulb in the motor headlight, and a huge double lens capable of being pointed like a cannon will be set on the highest peak to throw the rays against the snow reflector, and so on through space to Mars. Ten thousand giant calcium flares, and a reflector more than three miles in diameter, will develop a light roughly estimated at two million billion candlepower!

It is with this light that science hopes to traverse the 35,000,000 miles that will separate us from Mars in August next. Will the Martians (assuming intelligent life exists on that planet) receive and understand our signals? Then will they flash us back a reply?

WILL MARS ANSWER?
This is the system that will probably be used from the Alps. Two light flashes a few seconds apart, then another two; then, after a pause, four flashes. If there are Martians to catch the signal they will realize that reason is behind them. Perhaps they will answer in the same way. If their answer is sent back immediately the whole thing would take less than seven minutes, for light travels 186,000 miles per second.

No less important than the sending of the message is the catching of a possible reply.

The 35,000,000 miles of actual distance to Mars will be reduced to about 20,000 miles of visual distance by the high-powered telescopes through which scientists will be watching. Camille Flammarion, the great French astronomer, will be stationed in the bottom of a mine shaft in Chail, South America. The telescope through which he will scan the heavens will utilize one of the mine-tunnels for a tube.

FAKE TRADING PERMITS GIVEN TO INDIAN TRIBES

WASHINGTON. — Secretary of the Interior Work has informed the Treasury Department of the fraudulent sale of trading permits to Indians of northern New York, which purport to give them rights to trade across the United States and Canadian borders without payment of duties, it was learned here today.

The fake permits bear the name of the assistant secretary of the treasury occupying that office in 1873, and are based on the treaty of amity, commerce and navigation, concluded between this country and Great Britain in 1794. This treaty has been abrogated by subsequent treaties and acts, it was pointed out, and Indians under the present agreement are required to pay duties the same as any other traders.

METHODIST CONFERENCE IS SCHEDULED FOR MAY 4

CHICAGO. — The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church is to be held at Springfield, Mass., throughout the month of May. Approximately 500 delegates from all parts of the United States and from 41 nations and territories abroad will attend. The gathering will be representative of the 4,774,520 members of the Methodist Episcopal Church around the world, and is the law-making body of the denomination.

Among the important matters to be discussed is the question of affiliation with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; the status of the minority of the denomination, and the reorganization of all existing benevolent boards.

COUNSEL FEE FIXED
COLUMBIA. — State supreme court holds that Randolph Walton who acted as counsel for State Welfare Director Harper in ouster proceedings against Mae E. Stannard of the Deafure Girls' Industrial School is to be paid only six days' service. Walton sought a mandamus to compel Attorney General Crabbe to pay him $1,500 for his services.

BRITISH AROUND WORLD FLIGHT

Start April 15 With One Machine On 21,500 Mile Trip

LONDON. — (United Press) — Great Britain also is after the honor of being the first to fly around the world. She plans her flight for April 15, nearly a full month after the United States plans to be away from its California start. The British attempt will have the full co-operation and assistance of the Royal Air Force.

The leader of this expedition will be Squadron Leader A. Stuart MacLaren. His companions will be Flying Officer W. M. Plenderleith, another Scotsman, and Sergeant Andrews, who is to act as engineer-mechanic.

Sir Hugh Trenchard, the head of the Royal Air Force, has reviewed all the plans.

The machine to be used is a Vickers-Viking amphibian, fitted with a 450 h. p. Napier Lion engine. It has a range of about 1,800 miles, and as the last lap of the long trip will be a flight across the Atlantic this, if wind and other conditions are favorable, will be accomplished without any descent being made during the crossing.

The distance to be traversed is approximately 21,500 miles, and this will take about 240 hours (10 days).

When they cough!

KEMP'S BALSAM

of actual flying time. The new drakes of the air hope to be back in London before the end of July.

To Mr. and Mrs. Public:

More than 46,000 of you, to whom this is addressed, own the business of Swift & Company.

The officers and directors of Swift & Company, are responsible to these owners.

When Gustavus F. Swift first started in business in New England in 1868, he was alone. When he incorporated the business in 1886 as Swift & Company, six persons comprised the list of shareholders.

Today, in 1924, there are consumers, retailers, producers of live stock, employees of Swift & Company, in fact, thousands of Mr. and Mrs. Public in the list of shareholders.

No one man or family owns as much as 50 per cent of the stock of the Company; in fact, it would take about 900 of the largest shareholders to vote 51 per cent of the shares.

We are proud of the fact that about one-third of the list is made up of employees — and that these employees own over $20,000,000 worth of our stock.

Swift & Company's 1924 Year Book tells more about this on page 22, and also about many other interesting phases of the packing business.

for month of February

We challenge ourselves to reach 18,000 circulation. We were too conservative. In January the LIMA NEWS enjoyed by far the greatest per capita circulation in northwestern Ohio, and one of the greatest in the United States, still nearly one hundred more homes subscribed for this newspaper in February than in January.

The tremendously increased area of influence of this newspaper, due to most amazing growths in circulation, indicate more unmistakably than any other one sign how rapidly Lima is developing, for otherwise the increases were impossible.

The Lima News for many years has been read by practically everyone in LIMA. The astounding strides in circulation made by this newspaper have been possible through the fact that newcomers to the city have turned almost unanimously to The Lima News and the additional fact that this newspaper is PUSHING BACK THE LIMA FRONTIERS, and widening the trading influence of this city.

These gains, which have given to Lima the enviable position of having a newspaper with a national reputation for per capita coverage, have been accomplished without special drives of any sort or character. We have offered no bonuses of any sort to the public to subscribe to this newspaper. The staff of solicitors never has been smaller. Just as there was a combined circulation of any character in Lima even approximating that of The Lima News alone, by the same token Lima never boasted a newspaper even approximating the today's Lima News in reader interest, reader confidence and buyer influence.

OSHING, N. Y.—(United Press)—William H. Anderson, Number 75,745, with a mop and a coal shovel, began his work today as a Sing prisoner.
A garb of gray had replaced his "rock coat," when the former chief of the state Anti-Saloon league had waded into his labors. It is possible if the convicted forger is a good prisoner, that he may receive release as a Christmas eve gift.
Meanwhile, his appeal is pending before the appellate division of the supreme court, asking for a new trial from his conviction for "altering the books of the Anti-Saloon league."
His sentence is one to two years. Anderson entered the same jail cell of Sing yesterday, with his "podigree" was taken in the clerk's office. He was asked if he drank liquor.
"I do not," he replied, with a sad smile. Then he was a sad smile. Then his black mustache was shaved off and his clothes bundled up.
The "fighting reformer" was assigned to the reception committee which there were 40 other new prisoners. He may not receive any visitors for ten days.

Liver Trouble Now a Known Cause of Premature Old Age

Modern science knows that poisons waste in our bodies would actually cause death in a few days if not eliminated by Nature's processes. Because it destroys these deadly poisons, the liver is our most important organ, the body's wonderful purifier.

Science now understands how the liver prevents the formation of body poisons that cause diseases of the heart, kidneys, blood vessels and are chiefly responsible for premature old age.

When the liver becomes weak, the poisons are sucked up by the blood and health is broken down. Guided by this knowledge, medical science is found the only way to help the liver create the purifying bile without which no human can live. Physicians know that the liver cannot be regulated by drugs, but a safe Nature substance has been discovered which will at once increase the vital bile supply. The discovery is purified ox gall.

Get from your druggist a package of Dioxol. Each tablet contains ten drops of purified ox gall. In 24 hours the poison toxins will be removed. Your liver will be regulated. Blood purification will begin. Sallow skin will clear. You will feel so much better you will know you have found the cause of your ill health. Dioxol tablets are harmless, tasteless and cost less than two cents each. adv

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

The city commission has authorized steps that will protect Lima against loss in years to come when a number of the additions that will be taken into the corporation within the next decade are a part of this growing city. This applies to the sewer systems to be placed in the additions.

The city foresees the troubles that may arise and expense that may attach should adequate action not be taken to regulate the kind of sewers that are used in property contiguous to the city. With a city that is expanding as rapidly as Lima, this is a matter that might easily become very serious if protective measures are delayed.

The city has a comprehensive program for its sewer system. It is declared to be a good plan—it should be for the price that was paid. This is available at city hall. It is the plan on which our millions of dollars are being spent and it should be satisfactory to the persons laying out and developing additions.

The commission is wise in this action. It should not delay but put thru all necessary legislation to protect our expansion up to 100,000. We're not over-optimistic. Lima will be that large. And it won't be a hundred years.

THE NEW BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Lima will have organized baseball this season. This was assured when the Lima franchise became part and parcel of the Northern Ohio Base Ball League. An association of baseball clubs is an exemplification of the old saw that in unity there is strength. From an objective point of view there can be no difference between it and the National league or the American league so far as friendly rivalry is concerned. One team will fight just as hard against another in this league as they do for supremacy in the majors. This is as it should be and is the fundamental object of our great national pastime.

But there is still a greater importance in this league than the winning of the pennant; there is a precedent to be set among the younger generation, that clean sport is essential; that it means a healthy body and a healthy mind. The playing of baseball is one of the most beneficial of sports. It teaches the youth to think quick; to use his better judgment as well as to materially assist in building a strong and vigorous constitution. To do this is to benefit mankind. Somehow with all the tremendous strides that nearly all classes of sport has gained, baseball still is the most popular. It is first in the minds of the average youth, so there is certain to be an inspiration to the young men of Lima and each of the other towns where this leagues holds franchises to greater endeavors towards proficiency. The league will set the example.

It is needless to say that all devotees of the game should give their ardent support to the league, for in many ways it is an advantage and a necessity.

WEALTH THAT CAN'T BE CORNERED

On the way to work this morning we passed a Lima banker humming jazz. A block farther on, a ditch-digger whistling grand opera.

Brains and instinctive culture, like lightning, strike in unexpected places. Some of the finest brains in this country today are to be found in factory, shop, plowed field and humble home. Mentality is one form of wealth that cannot be cornered.

SPREADING DEMOCRACY

Democracy is as contagious as smallpox. It is a fire that steadily consumes aristocracy. In England, for instance, less than 40,000 families paid heraldry tax in 1923 (registration of coats-of-arms). In 1880 the number was 252,000.

Rising democracy is submerging the nobility over there. In nobility's place will come an aristocracy of wealth, if Britain follows the American precedent.

Several big league ball players who merely beat about the bush last year will beat about the bush leagues this year.

Summer is better than winter because in summer you can find the ice pick when you hear a burglar.

A New York woman has worked 15 years inventing a snow moving device, instead of a wrinkle removing device.

You can think up something to say after it is too late to say it because trains of thought are delayed by excess baggage.

What this country needs most is less things it needs most.

A girl naturally hates to go with a man who wears a stiff collar because it hurts her neck.

LIMA NEWS HEALTH SERVICE

—BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY—
TELL IT NOT IN GATH.

Once it was a little mal de mer, as the French say, even to mention stomachs, but now it requires a medical specialist to think of anything they don't talk about in polite society. I can remember when I first began to write and talk to mixed audiences I had to censor my stuff carefully. Nowadays I find even my raw material is considered pretty tame by contrast with the Lima dispensed by some young women magazine writers.

Here is an appeal from a "mere woman" who implores members of her sex who have "gone under the knife" to forget about it at least when visiting their friends, for, she protests, "I and many others have been compelled to sit and listen for hours to our alling friends discuss their operations. I know by heart what each wonderful surgeon said about the case and how near unto death each of my post-operative acquaintances has been. . . . I sometimes wonder if there are any healthy, normal women left. Really it seems that women who sit around all day playing cards or devote their lives to jazz dancing have but one topic for conversation, and that is the exploitation of their personal ailments and organs. If they are the same at home, I should think the average husband would prefer to spend his evenings and holidays at the dispensary or the morgue." Still and all, if the nurse who takes care of you does her stuff and the surgeon plays his role of miracle man, there's considerable satisfaction in telling the world that yours was the worst case they'd ever had, and then if necessary to clinch your claim, yanking the bottle out from your pocket with the remain of the organ embalmed in alcohol.

Nowadays, however, having an operation is like getting an autograph.

To attribute present ill health to a past operation is about as reasonable as it would be to ascribe manifestations of Bright's disease, cancer or arteriosclerosis to "your age" as too many badly educated women do.

JUST FOLKS

—BY EDGAR A. GUEST—

THE MONEY WORSHIPPER

He had money, but men sneered
At the way his wealth had grown;
Talked behind his back and jeered,
Said his heart was cold as stone,
Told their stories of his greed,
Whispered of his doubtful deals.
He had money, yes indeed,
But no friend behind his heels.

He had money—loads of it,
Gathered in a miser's way.
All squeezed dry of mirth and wit
And the friendships of the day.
Laughed at by the men he knew,
Made a thing of common jest,
He was rich, but this was true:
Gold was all that he possessed.

Workmen talked behind his back
Of the petty tricks he played,
Said he pinched the eagle black
When his clutch on it was laid.
No one ever spoke his praise,
No one ever called him friend,
And he rounded out his days
Rich but lonely to the end.

Not for all the gold on earth,
Not for all that it can do,
Would I squeeze my life of mirth
And the joy of friendships true.
I would rather never see,
Never see my purse grow fat,
Than to money be a slave
And to live my life like that!

Fellowship of Prayer

(Copyright, 1924)

Read Mt. 6:1-15; Text: 6:14. For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

"God's forgiveness involves three things: (1) a wrong done to God by a man; (2) the man's repentance, that is, the wrong regretted, stopped, and, if possible, made right; (3) a change on the part of God from disapproving to approving love."

MEDITATION: Jesus was continually emphasizing the truth that we limit our own lives by the attitude we take towards others. That the quality which we possess, both of forgiveness and love for others, determines in what measure we shall have forgiveness and affection of the Father. In many ways we control our own destiny.

PERSONAL QUESTION: Is there anyone who has wronged me and repented whom I do not forgive? PRAYER: Help me to remember, O God, that we are members of a great family. Let us so live in love with all men that thy grace may enrich the lives of all. Let no life be hindered by anything we may say or do. Show us thy will and let us do it with joy, through Christ. Amen.

"The Eternal City"

A love that was born in a little village and culminated after many vicissitudes in the aristocratic halls of Rome, amid luxury and splendor, is the story told in "The Eternal City" appearing at the Sigma for the first time today and Thursday. It is a story of the famous novel by the late John Galsworthy, and has as the stellar players Barbara La Marr, Lionel Barrymore, Bert Lytell, Richard Barrett and Montague Love.

The story revolves around Donna Anna and David Rossi, sweethearts in a small village in Italy, who are separated when Anna is left alone by the death of her father. She is driven into accepting the attentions of Baron Scarpelli, a powerful politician. He takes her to Rome where she becomes famous as a sculptress as well as the object of unenviable gossip.

When David returns he finds old friends gone, the home in ruins and Anna apparently in love with the baron. Meeting her, she convinces him of the truth: that the sculptress is his wife and that she had been only a ward to the baron. Determined upon revenge, he sets about the task of bringing the baron to justice, and succeeds only after a series of thrilling adventures.

Movie fans are treated to some genuine Italian scenery as the camera takes the entire cast with its technical staff to Italy where the picture was filmed.

JAPANESE SHIP SINKS; PART OF CREW MISSING

LONDON—A message to Lloyds from the North Foreland wireless station reports that a Japanese steamship sank after colliding with the German steamship Helmsdal near the English coast last night. The Helmsdal took off 15 members of the Japanese crew, said the message, and arrived at Dover today with her bows damaged.

There were no signs of the remainder of the Japanese crew, who are believed to have been asleep at the time of the collision and to have gone down with the ship.

A later message said the sunken steamer was the Tokufuku Maru and from Bremen for Japan and at 23 of her crew were missing.

SEEK TO CONVICT NEGRO WITH KILLING OF WOMAN

KANSAS CITY—Stains on a pair of rubber boots, owned by Dillard Davis, negro, one of three men charged with the murder of Dr. Zora Elkins, osteopath, today were under examination of chemists to determine whether they were made by the boots of the slain woman.

Mrs. Eva Grundy said Davis was the boots when she saw him at Dr. Watkins' home on Saturday night preceding the slaying.

B. Walston, chief of detectives, last night further questioned A. F. Blanchard, osteopath of Elsin Springs, Ill., about his connection with the slain woman. He believed the osteopath knew something of the murder. Dr. Blanchard maintained he last saw Dr. Watkins at her home February 28, when he called him to treat a patient. It is then Blanchard said, Dr. Watkins made a proposal for partnership in a sanitarium which he declined.

FREE SALESMAN EXPIRES WEDNESDAY AT HOSPITAL

A. Llewellyn, 65, fruit tree salesman died Wednesday morning at the City hospital following operation. He resided at the Hamilton Hotel.

Funeral arrangements have not been made pending word from relatives in Morris, Kas.

At the Orpheum.

Doc Dorman, leading comedian of the "Bummin' Around" company will be master of ceremonies at "Ye Olde Tyme Countrie Store," of the Wednesday evening performance at the New Orpheum. It will follow the regular performance. There will be a complete change of bill Thursday which will continue until the end of the week. "The Spooners" is the title of it.

Scaramouche at Faurot.

There should be ample satisfaction to the student of history as well as the one who favors the spectacular in moving pictures, in Scaramouche, which comes to the Faurot Thursday afternoon for a stay of four days. It deals with the French Revolution with an elaborateness of detail amazing for even a moving picture, which have gone the limit in extravagance. It has been adapted from the Sabatini novel. It is stupendous in construction and at the same time is intense in its dramatic action. There will be thousands in Lima and vicinity who will want to see it, because it has been a sensation in the east in the principal theatres of New York and other larger cities.

Farrar Coming.

Coming as a pleasant surprise to music lovers is the announcement that Geraldine Farrar has included Lima among the cities in which she will sing during her present concert tour. Heading a company of concert artists the former star of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company will present her concert at Memorial Hall, Thursday evening, April 10.

Miss Farrar alternates in the program with her artists, who appear in numerous solo numbers. During the latter part of the program she will appear in a costume number, a scene from "Carmen," the opera in which Miss Farrar scored her greatest success as a member of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Co.

Miss Farrar has been singing to capacity houses in every city in which she appeared and it is expected there will be a heavy demand for seats. Sale will open Thursday, April 3 at Porter's Music House.

Ethel Barrymore Coming.

Arthur Hopkins will present Ethel Barrymore at the Faurot for one performance next Tuesday evening, in her latest success "The Laughing Lady," a Suiro play. She played it at the Longacre theatre, in New York city for six months last season. It has been accredited as her greatest success by several eminent critics. In this play there is plenty of humor and the fact is that she has delighted more theatregoers with her humor than her seriousness. This was proved not so long ago when she appeared as Lady Teazle, along with her Uncle John Drew and an all star cast. Her performance stood out as unrivalled, even when we remember that her grandmother Mrs. John Drew was the greatest Lady Teazle America ever knew.

"The Laughing Lady" is a play that stands out with unusual brilliancy and it is certain that Miss Barrymore will get the most out of it.

WOMAN DEFEATED IN RACE FOR CONGRESS SEAT

Mrs. Thomson was the first woman in Louisiana to run for a congressional seat.

The Operating Costs of a Utility Are Variable

The operating expenses of any utility are made up of payments for labor, for the purchase of necessary supplies of various kinds, the taxes assessed by the various political subdivisions such as the general government, state, county and municipality and the interest on its bonds.

These expenses are by no means constant and vary with the market for labor and other commodities in exactly the same way as the operating expenses of any other business vary.

There is no way in which the law of supply and demand which causes fluctuations in prices, can be abrogated in favor of a public utility.

There is a peculiar feature about the operating expenses of public utilities, viz: the limited control which can be exercised by the management. For example, in an electric plant, sufficient coal must be used to carry the load, irrespective of the cost per ton. Curtailment of service, except through accident, is not to be considered. Oil must be used whether it be cheap or expensive. Labor must be employed at prevailing market prices. Taxes are assessed and must be paid no matter how high.

Service, when interrupted by accident or failure of equipment, must be restored in the shortest possible time regardless of whether overtime rates apply or whether shipment or repair parts must come by express in lead of the cheaper—and slower—freight.

Service must be supplied during every hour of every day—at a low operating cost if possible—but service must be supplied.

This is the sixth of a series.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sallie Peck, employee of the Fair Deal Five & Ten, quarrels with her policeman sweet-heart, Michael Curtis. Then night a storm comes up and Sallie volunteers to take down the lightning rod hanging in the yard by the Browns, with whom the girl lives. A crash shakes the rod and something strikes Sallie a blow on the head.

When she regains consciousness, Sallie finds herself in strange surroundings, handsomely furnished. She is welcomed up by a maid named Theresa and a nurse, Miss Tidmarsh. They call Sallie by the name of Alva Copeland.

Madame Copeland, a tall, richly dressed woman, comes in and calls Sallie her step-daughter. She tells the girl that she was injured in a train wreck. Sallie is taken down stairs to see Cousin Fio, and when a Mrs. Delapierre is announced, Madame Copeland goes into another room to receive her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Has Aunt Fio told you about Mrs. Delapierre?" Sloat had moved a low chair close to hers and his peculiar eyes were regarding her with a penetrating stare. "You seemed surprised when she was announced."

"Did I?" Sallie shrugged. "I don't feel as tho much would surprise me, lately! But tell me about the wreck."

"Don't you recall any of it—Alva?" He hitched his chair a trifle nearer.

"Nothing of what's been told me—yet." She eyed him steadily. "I'd like to know how you happened to find me."

SALLIE SMOOTHED OUT THE FRAGMENT.

The doctors were afraid I was going to die, without even being wise to who I was myself? I mightn't even be who people doped if out I was!"

"What do you mean?" He turned again and fixed his oblique gaze on her, then forced a laugh. "That would be absurd! Mistakes like that don't happen, Alva."

"Did you ring, miss?" The voice of the footman Fitch sounded from the doorway. "Shall I take away the tea?"

Sloat turned, his small mustache bristling, but before he could speak Sallie replied:

"Yes, please."

There was something more than mere curiosity in the covert glance the man cast at her as he obeyed and Sallie wondered anew, but nothing more was said until he had gone. Then Sloat exclaimed:

"That fellow's too confoundedly officious! I'm going to tell Aunt Fio to get rid of him!"

"I didn't remember that you were in as strong as that with her!" Sallie laughed. "She did tell me how slick you fixed it out there where the accident happened to get us all away so quick!"

"Good heavens!" Sloat's tone bordered on exasperation. "Don't let us go back to that awful affair!"

"All right," Sallie replied obligingly. "I don't believe in crape-hanging, myself, but what else have we got to talk about?"

"You?" He rested his arm along the small table behind his chair and hers. "Do you know, Alva, I like you better—in this mood—than I ever did before? I think we are going to understand each other."

"Haven't we always?" she asked.

"Not as thoroughly as we shall." He looked down the length of his long nose at her. "You've got common sense and nerve, and you're ever so much prettier in spite of your illness—"

"Am I?" His arm was moving slowly toward her along the table top but Sallie scorned to budge an inch. She wondered which of his eyes was looking straight at her and choosing one gazed steadily back into it. "I do hope you ain't going to do what you were told to!"

"Who?" He drew back slightly in surprise. "What was I told not to do?"

"Make me tired."

He removed his arm and an ugly expression crossed his face, but he checked himself in time and observed mockingly:

"I should be sorry to do that—little cousin. You seem to have forgotten more than I thought and perhaps I had better remind you—"

"I hope I have not been long!" Mrs. Copeland entered hurriedly and her anxious gaze traveled from her nephew's irritated countenance to the girl's serene one. "Alva, my dear, are you sure you ought to rest now; I will send Miss Tidmarsh to you."

"Thank you, Mrs. Copeland," Sallie said. "I am dining here, of course! You know Mr. Bellows may be with us later."

"Thank you, Aunt Fio," He nodded carelessly but the gleam of resentment had not yet died from his eyes. "Had Mrs. Delapierre any news?"

"A vague clue, but a most amazing coincidence!" She broke off. "Come, my dear."

The girl had already risen and to avoid shaking hands with Sloat she nodded and smiled at him over her shoulder as she moved quickly toward the door.

"Don't forget those things you were going to remind me of, the next time I see you!"

"That will be tomorrow, I hope." He bowed but his mustache lifted slightly. "I shall not forget!"

Mrs. Copeland closed the door behind them and remarked as she led the way back to the bedroom:

"I hope you have not been quarreling with your cousin. You will not find it wise to do that."

"Quarreling? Oh, no. He gets me perfectly!" Sallie stopped with a little trip, for Mrs. Copeland had opened the bedroom door and then stepped aside for the girl to enter without noticing the tiny scrap of newspaper which lay just under the sill. It might have come there by accident or design but Sallie promptly put her foot on it and slid it along.

"I don't need to bother Miss Tidmarsh, or anybody. I can get to bed by myself and I'm going to take these slippers off first of all; they hurt!"

Seating herself flat on the floor with her back to Mrs. Copeland Sallie lightly palmed the bit of paper and then removing the maligned slippers she tossed them carelessly aside.

"Theresa will have them changed for you tomorrow." The older woman spoke quickly, in evident anxiety to get back to the sitting room. "I will look in on you in a little while."

The door closed and with a hasty glance over her shoulder to assure herself that she was alone Sallie smoothed out the fragment of newspaper. It was evidently torn from the center of an article and read:

"Detective Bureau is confident that the woman seen in the North-av Station at Philadelphia on Monday night was the missing Delapierre maid whose description tallies exactly with the records of Bess Hilker, alias Diamond Bess. It is feared that her intention was to double back to New York City and that she may have been a passenger on the ill-fated Gotham Arrow. No trace of her has been found."

CHAPTER IV

Players of the Game

How had that particular scrap of paper come to be under her door? The Delapierre robbery seemed to be of interest to Mrs. Copeland and her nephew because of their friendship with the family.

She remembered Mrs. Copeland's answer to Sloat's query for news: "A vague clue but a most amazing coincidence." She had meant the possibility that the woman crook was on the Gotham Arrow, too. It certainly was queer.

Sallie tore the paper into tiny pieces and opening her bathroom window scattered them wide and when Miss Tidmarsh appeared she found her patient curled up half-dressed upon the chaise longue. A light dinner was brought to her and a little later the nurse approached her with a glass of water and two more tablets identical in appearance with those which the doctor had administered that morning.

There was going to be no more doped sleep for Sallie if she knew it. Extending her hand in seeming willingness for the medicine she raised it to her lips and then drank some water but the tablets were in the closed fingers which rested so innocently across her breast. Miss Tidmarsh settled herself by the low night-light with a book for an hour and then satisfied that her patient slept she left the room.

She had scarcely gone, however, when Sallie was in the bathroom, washing the moist, sticky white paste of the melted tablets from her fingers.

The little French clock whose tickling chimes had first caused her to open her eyes that morning was ticking softly on the mantel, the hands coming to five minutes before ten, and Sallie stole to the window, pulling aside the heavy draperies which the nurse had lowered.

Mr. Bellows was apparently in on this scheme, too, and Sallie meant to know when he arrived.

Eleven o'clock came and half after the hour and at last a car pulled up before the door. In the rays from the street lamp it appeared a large and magnificent machine and yet there was something about its outlines which reminded Sallie vaguely of the cars in which the more prosperous doctors of Shaftstown had made their rounds.

In swift promission she crept back into bed, forcing herself to breathe lightly and regularly and in a few moments the door opened and Dr. Quarters entered, accompanied by Miss Tidmarsh. His examination was brief but more of an ordeal than Sallie had anticipated and it required all her self-control, to keep her eyelids from fluttering when he passed a light beam over her face.

THE TANGLE

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

"Are you sure, Jora, that you never loved the mother of your child?" I asked my husband tremulously.

"I can't answer that question honestly, Leslie. A man thinks he loves many women for many things, and I sometimes think he misses the real love because he is unfortunate enough not to meet the one woman who is THE woman, who satisfies all that his mind, soul and body craves: the woman who is real and loyal as a friend thru good and ill, whose hand he can clasp in closest comradeship or who will set his blood tingling to love's sweetest measure; the woman who has a face so fair that he may love to gaze, whose brain is big enough to cope with his and whose soul is so broad that he knows that truth, sympathy and perfect trust find judgment there."

"Beside being the woman I have just described, Leslie, I have found in you something more. Dearest, your great loving heart is so tender that at my slightest touch you seem to drop all other attributes, all other thoughts save those of Love."

"Leslie, you have made this world more beautiful for me than I have ever thought it could be. I cannot lose you now—I cannot. Do not punish me for something I did before I knew you; before you had come into my life to show me that God made a man in his own likeness and that only when he allows himself to sink to his baser level he becomes the lesser thing than God intended him to be."

Jack's voice trailed off into silence. I could not speak; in fact, I could not bring my brain to realize it all.

Even all the beautiful things he had just said to me about myself did not affect my consciousness until afterward. Then I knew that no man could have said them unless he meant them all.

Little Marquise, did ever your kindly lover say anything sweeter to you?

At the time, however, my tongue just refused to form any words, and the silence began to hurt us both with a torture unspeakable.

"Leslie, Leslie, speak to me! Tell me that you will forgive me."

"When did you know that little Jack belonged to you, John?" I found myself asking. My tongue seemed saying things of which I had no thought, no intuition.

It seemed hours before Jack answered my question.

"It was a few weeks afterward. Paula wrote to Sid, and he wrote me, telling me that she had confessed what she had done in disposing of her baby. It is too late to say anything then; besides, I was afraid."

"Poor girl, how she must have suffered!" I stirred in surprise and wondered if it were I who had spoken those words. I had no intention of saying them before they came out. But honestly, little Marquise, the only thing I could think about was the look of agony upon that poor girl's face when she sat in my beautiful nursery with her own baby clasped in her arms, and couldn't own it. It was then that she said:

"Shall we give him back?" asked John. "I will do so if you wish it."

"Not for all the world," I answered. "I would give you up more easily than him."
